DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 51-72 are pending.
2. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.
This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.
3. In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in response to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

- I. Claims 51, 53-72, drawn to a method comprising a use of mannan-binding lectin (MBL), for the treatment/reducing of a patient suffering from SIRS.
- II. Claims 51-52, 54-72, drawn to a method comprising a use of mannan-binding lectin (MBL), for the treatment/reducing of a patient suffering from transplantation.
- III. Claims 51, 54-72, drawn to a method comprising a use of mannan-binding lectin (MBL), for the treatment/reducing of a patient suffering from SIRS and transplantation.

4. The inventions listed as Groups I-III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

The invention of Group I was found to have no special technical feature that defined the contribution over the prior art of Thiel et al (US Pat. No. 7,202,207) (see entire document).

Thiel et al teaches and claims a method of preventing infection in an individual who is at least one of the following: a) an individual having an immunocompromised condition; or b) an individual being at risk of acquiring an immunocompromised condition resulting from a medical prevention; or c) an individual having a serum level of mannan-binding lectin (MBL) in excess of 50 ng/ml, said individual having a serum level of MBL which is less than 500 ng/ml, by administering to said individual a prophylactically effective amount of a medicament composition comprising at least one MBL subunit, or at least one MBL oligomer comprising the at least one MBL subunit, whereby an infection in said individual is treated, wherein the infection is an infection caused by a microbial species such as bacteria (see the patented in particular).

Since Applicant's inventions do not contribute a special technical feature when viewed over the prior art they do not have a single general inventive concept and so lack unity of invention

Species Election

5. Irrespective of whichever group applicant may elect, applicant is further required under 35 US 121 (1) to elect a single disclosed species to which claims would be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable and (2) to list all claims readable thereon including those subsequently added.

- A. If any one Groups I-III elected, applicant is required to elect a single specific MBL polypeptide form such as a) monomer, b) dimer, c) tetramer, d) pentamer, e) hexamer or f) a single specific combination. These are distinct species because their structures and modes of action are different which, in turn, address different therapeutic endpoints.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. § 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable.

6. Applicant is advised that a response to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 C.F.R. § 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. M.P.E.P. § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. § 103 of the other invention.

7. Applicant is advised that the response to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed.

8. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
